

CONGRESS TO HAVE OWN ARMS BATTLE DURING ASSEMBLY

Reduction Advocates Will Force Fight With Conference On.

While the international conference on limitation of armaments is meeting in Washington, Congress will stage a fight of its own further to reduce America's armament regardless of the decisions of the conference.

It has already laid for a spirited campaign in both the Senate and House to curtail the size of the army and navy, cutting far below the minimum fixed for the present fiscal year.

Fear Embarrassment.

Fear is felt that the debate and possible action by Congress during the conference might embarrass the American delegates. On the other hand, disarmament advocates contend that further curtailment of American armaments would not hamper proceedings in the conference, but would furnish an example of disinterestedness and assist in accomplishing the primary object of the conference—limitation of armaments.

The budget law requires the President to submit to Congress on the opening day of each regular session, that is, the first Monday in December, estimates of government expenditures for the ensuing fiscal year. Included in these estimates of course is the budget for the army and the navy. The administration took the position that Congress cut below the safety mark in the reductions which it ordered in the budget in the office of the fiscal year. The army was cut to 150,000 men and large amounts were slashed off the naval estimates. It is unlikely that the administration budget will be willing to cut below existing figures.

World Make Army 100,000.

Nevertheless, disarmament advocates are not satisfied. They are giving notice of their determination to fight for a reduction of the army to 100,000 men, and for a reduction in the navy to 15,000 ships. With experts still disagreeing over the issue of aircraft versus battleships, it is probable that the naval appropriation bill in Congress will be compelled to traverse much the same ground that it covered during the past session. When the bill finally emerged from the deadlock between the Senate and House it carried approximately $400,000,000.

RUSSIAN CHILDREN SEE WHITE BREAD FOR FIRST TIME

The fact that so much has been accomplished in such a short time. According to the Soviet system everyone works for the government, and when the Americans need a better system to assist them they request the authorities for his service. Up to the present time all requests have been granted. The workers receive food, according to the government, and the children are placed in the highest category, and so receive a maximum amount of food.

Reminded Children of Easter.

The opening of the first American kitchen was an event in the city. An American woman living in Petrograd took charge of the cooking, being assisted by a well-known chef, who explained that it had been such a long time since he had prepared anything but soup that he had forgotten his art.

It was interesting to watch the expressions on the faces of the children when they were filled past the rice pudding and caldrons of cocoa.

"This is better than Easter," said one child—Easter being Russia's greatest holiday, at which the children receive candy and laid out toys.

Some of the children had never seen white bread. In accordance with the advice of doctors, the relief workers reduced the ration from six loaves to four, and the children accepted the reduction with a good grace. They were given a card to take to their parents where they received one meal daily.

The American relief administration estimates that it will open 50,000 kitchens, in which it will feed 50,000 children of Petrograd.

PRICES OF FOOD SHOW INCREASE

An upward movement in food prices was again in evidence yesterday by the Department of Labor.

The retail cost of food increased 4.3 per cent in August, as compared with July, the department announced.

The cost, however, on August 15, was still 25 per cent under the figures for the same date in 1920.

Food prices are still 53 per cent above their figures on August 15, 1912.

Plaisantin, 62, Gets Permission from Court To Marry Fifth.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The matrimonial state is as blissful to a man as it is to a woman, though 62 years old, cannot live outside it.

The veteran of four marriages tonight received news that the court had granted his plea to be allowed to remarry, and immediately said he would take unto himself a fifth Mrs. Plaisantin.

"She is a beautiful young lady from Buffalo," he said, "and I can guarantee her name, because I have not asked her yet. I'm confident she will accept me."

Plaisantin, when he was granted his last divorce, was forbidden by the court to marry. It was only today that permission was granted.

"Matrimony," he said, "is the best thing in the world for a man, because—well, you see—'it's so easy to get out of it.'"

ASHTON HEIGHTS GIVES ADVANTAGES

Kay-Alger Co. Reports Extensive Sales in Nearby Suburb.

Capitalizing the popular demand for a "Love Nest," the Kay-Alger Company, Inc., is presenting to the public a business proposition which is meeting with considerable success, the formation of another homes colony in nearby Virginia, "Ashton Heights."

This suburban section is a little more than three miles from the White House, lying just off the Wilson Boulevard, down a well paved roadway, Clarendon Avenue to Cathedral Road, along which the property lies.

Part of Burke Estate.

This subdivision is being placed on the market by Ashton C. Jones, prominent Virginian, resident of Clarendon, and graduate of William and Mary College. It is a part of the original 100-acre estate of the progenitor of the Virginia Burkes, by Lady Fairfax for "one ear of corn at Michaelmas," many decades ago. This Burke estate had remained practically intact for many years, when recently a part of the original tract passed into the hands of Mr. Jones. Having remained untouched for such a long period, the land has developed a wonderful growth of oaks, caks and other shade trees, which is an outstanding feature, since Ashton Heights is located on one of the highest hills surrounding Washington.

Served By Bus Line.

Transportation facilities to the property are numerous and readily available. There is a bus line which runs from Thirty-sixth and M streets in Washington on a fifteen-minute schedule, and from there the lots are but a short walk. The Washington and Virginia electric cars, Falls Church extension, which leave at highway improvements, will increase values to a marked degree. Further, the finishing of the Lincoln Memorial, and the memorial bridge connecting it with Arlington, which improvement is projected by the Fine Arts Commission, will open this section of nearby Virginia to ever increasing availability from the Nation's Capital.

The property is restricted to white owners, and every house must be detached. Owners can vote in Virginia, though "staying on business" in Washington.

Mrs. Kay and Mrs. Alger, the incorporators of the firm having exclusive agency for the Ashton Heights development, upon graduating from the course in realty given by Puller B. Gordon, formed their firm in May, 1920, and since that time have made rapid strides toward a most successful business future.

Sales Mostly for Cash.

One remarkable feature about the sale of the lots is that most of the contracts already closed were for cash, but a small percentage were sold on the time payment plan. Then, too, although it might seem that the buying of such land would be more in the nature of an investment, the majority of buyers have signified their intention to build.

Benjamin King is building a nine-room brick home, William Holliman, another owner, intends to build, and Miss Hull Lambertson, niece of Admiral Lambertson, is expected to take similar steps in the near future.

Already the Ashton Heights Children's Association has been formed, with D. L. Shepherd as its temporary chairman, and Mrs. E. L. Smith as temporary secretary. One measure being pushed by the association is to have the telephone poles and lighting conduits placed underground. A meeting will be held Tuesday evening in the office of the Kay-Alger Company at 8 o'clock to elect permanent officers.

Offered For 10 Cents a Foot.

"The sales plan announced provides for the cash sale of the lots at 10 cents a foot with 12 cents for lots sold under the time payment plan. Prices are scheduled to advance 2 cents a foot on October 15. Mrs. Alger in discussing financial arrangements stated, "Under the deferred payment plan there is no interest charge and the taxes are paid by the owner until the lots are entirely paid for. The buyer is insured against loss of property by death, the beneficiary being given a clear title without further payments. In every instance terms are arranged as far as possible to the convenience of the purchaser."

In addition to these advantages home building is financed by the

ARRESTS HUSBAND WHOSE BRIDE WAS CHOKED TO DEATH

Detective Chases Jersey Man Over Western Ontario.

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 17.—George Dobson, who disappeared from his home at Runnemede, near here, shortly before the body of his bride of two months was found choked to death in her bedroom, is under arrest in Detroit.

County Prosecutor Wolverton today received a telegram to this effect, stating that Dobson had been arrested at the home of his brother-in-law, Sylvester Dodge, after a chase over Western Ontario.

Quarrel Over Money.

Mrs. Dobson, widow of a comparatively well-to-do farmer, met Dobson through his matrimonial advertisement. Quarrels over financial matters involving the use of her money were said by neighbors to have become acute prior to the disappearance of Dobson about two days ago and the finding of his wife's body the following morning.

Dobson's arrest ended a chase from Camden through Ontario and into Detroit. County Detective Doran took up the pursuit a few hours after the body was found. Dobson had left in company with his 9-year-old son, Raymond, and John McKee, 9 years old, and Barbara, 8 years old, nephew and niece of Mrs. Dobson. The nephew was left with relatives in Mount Holly, Pa., and Dobson continued with the other two children.

Followed to Detroit.

Detective Doran overtook Dobson at Courtland, Ontario, and followed him to Detroit before his arrest, but the children were not with Dobson when the arrest was made.

After placing his prisoner in the Detroit jail Doran returned to Canada in an effort to find the two children.

"CALL-ME-HENRY" LANSBURGH PLAYS ATLANTIC CITY MAYOR

Potentate of Almas Temple Runs the Town During Shrine Conclave.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 17.—For twenty-four hours Henry Lansburgh, potentate of Almas Temple, Shrine representative of Washington on the great conclave of the order here, has been acting mayor of Atlantic City.

Shriners by the thousands and visitors by tens of thousands learned today that Mayor Edward L. Bader, in conferring the keys and freedom of the resort on Almas last night, named Potentate Lansburgh "Mayor" for the continuance of the Shrine pilgrimage.

With Almas as the most spectacular Shrine in review, and Potentate Lansburgh as the most illustrious member, Washington, which captured beauty honors of the fair pageant with Miss Margaret Gorman last week, scored again in the Shrine parade.

In deference to the desire of Mayor Bader to have Potentate and Acting Mayor Lansburgh specially honored, he was furnished with a special escort of Atlantic City members of Crescent Temple during his entire visit.

Noble George Cortlip, one of the leading members of the local Shrine club, was named chief of the Shrine parade, while the noble William Charles, Noble Stannard and Noble William Williams as assistant aides.

Almas Temple, with its three musical organizations and uniformed patrol, created a general sensation throughout the line of the parade. The Almas band of thirty-six pieces of drums, under direction of Noble James Evans, and the Oriental band, directed by Noble Henry Smith, headed the Washington representation, which received plaudits from the thousands who overcame the Shrine parade.

While the ceremonial was in progress the Shrine turnout since the imperial convention in June, the Almas patrol, guided by Capt. E. C. Dutton and Lieut. George C. Whiting and G. B. Hayes, held alert attention with their perfect maneuvers.

20,000 Shriners Present.

Nearly 20,000 Shriners are in the resort, and nearly all turned out in the big parade. After the demonstration, the nobles thronged the Million-dollar Pier, where a secret ceremonial session was held in the Ocean Hall for induction of candidates, who were guided across the hot sands of Chrinemed to the number of more than 100.

While the ceremony was in progress the women in attendance at the meeting had a special afternoon dance in their honor in the big ballroom of the pier, which was turned over to the Shriners for the day and evening. Tonight there was a vaudeville show, followed by a formal dance on the pier.

ARMY SPECIALIZES IN AERIAL BOMBS

Navy Develops Fiske Aerial Torpedo at Yorktown Air Station.

While the army is completing plans to bomb the old battleship Alabama, the navy is perfecting another branch of aerial attack, that of the Fiske aerial torpedo. It was announced last week that the navy will not participate in the October bombing tests of the army, when the Alabama will be destroyed.

The army flying corps for this work will be based on Langley Field, Va., nearly sixty-two miles from the scene of action, which will test the fliers in distance attack. It is expected that the phase of night bombing, now being developed by the army aviators using the famous 100,000 candle power star and bomb flares, will be sufficiently worked out to give a strong demonstration of the usefulness of this type of combat work.

The heavier types of flying boats being used by the navy afford the carrying of good torpedoes, which are launched horizontally from beneath the planes, after the plan recommended a number of years ago by Admiral Bradley Fiske. This development work is being carried on at the Yorktown Naval Air Station, in the York river, just above Hampton Roads, Virginia. This station has been set up since the close of the war.

BOTH SIDES SURE OF NEW MEXICO

Re-election of Senator Holm O. Bursum, Republican, to the Senate, was confidently claimed by Republican headquarters here on the basis of reports from New Mexico.

Democratic headquarters held that Judge Hanna, their candidate, stood an excellent chance of reducing the Republican Senatorial majority to 21.

The election will take place Tuesday, just before Congress reassembles.

DISTILLED SPIRITS TO PAY $6.40 TAX UNDER SENATE BILL

Senator Calder Will Ask Levy of $5 a Barrel On 2.75 Beer.

A tax of approximately $30 is laid upon every man, woman and child in the country by the revenue bill completed yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee. The measure is designed to raise $3,200,000,000 for the fiscal year 1922.

Treasury experts, now whipping the bill into shape for report to the Senate next Wednesday, say that the changes made by the Senate committee in the House bill will make little difference in the total revenue yielded.

Increase Covers Loss.

The increase from 12 1/2 per cent, as provided by the House, to 15 per cent tax on imports of corporations made by the Senate, it is said, will almost cover the loss of $50,000,000 resulting from the repeal of the capital stock taxes and the $18,000,000 loss from the reduction of surtaxes.

One of the eleven-hour provisions adopted yesterday by the committee was an amendment by Senator Calder, of New York, imposing a tax of $6.40 a gallon on all distilled spirits withdrawn from bond, except that used in manufacturing. Calder declared his amendment would raise between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000 a year, as he said about 90 per cent of alcohol withdrawn is diverted for beverage purposes.

Will Ask Tax on 2.75 Beer.

Calder announced that he will submit an amendment imposing a tax of $5 a barrel on 2.75 beer when the bill goes to the Senate.

The committee adopted an amendment providing for a tax of 10 per cent on hotel and room charges of $5 a day for one person and $8 a day for two persons. Chairman Penrose declared that this tax will be paid by hotels and not guests.

Important items repeated in the bill include:

Special sales taxes on proprietary medicines; policy taxes on life insurance and premium taxes on other insurance companies on next January 1, and taxes on soft drinks sold at soda fountains.

CHAMBERLAIN ARE HELD IN ARLINGTON

The last rites for Lieut. Guy Russell Chamberlain, husband of Mrs. Dorothy Davis Chamberlain, of Garrett Park, who was killed in action in France on September 27, 1918, were held at Arlington yesterday.

The services were conducted by Chaplain Yates, of Fort Myer, assisted by the Rev. Thomas D. Windiate, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Kensington. The military escort was commanded by Capt. Jones, who was a roommate of Lieut. Chamberlain at West Point. The Camp Humphreys band was in attendance.

Lieut. Chamberlain was attached to the Second Cavalry but was detached and detailed to duty in the Tank Corps. He was cited in brigade orders for bravery at St. Mihiel and was sent to the Tank Corps school as instructor.

When the Argonne drive was started, a call was sent out for the best men and Lieut. Chamberlain was selected. He was detailed as liaison officer of the 34th battalion. He was the first American officer in the Tank Corps to be killed. The camp at Langres was named in his honor.

DISTRICT CHIEFS MAY AID VENDORS

Commissioner Oyster yesterday hinted that the District Commissioners may come to the aid of the fruit vendors, who are only allowed to stop their push carts long enough to make sales.

An amendment to police regulations, allowing vendors to park their carts for thirty minutes provided they are 100 yards from public markets and are not asked to move by owners or occupants of premises which they approach has been sent to the Commissioners by the United Fruit Vendors' Association and although Commissioner Oyster said he had not yet received the document, it sounded reasonable to him and would be considered by the Commissioners.

Legal Imports Of Whisky 180,000 Gallons in 8 Mos.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Prohibition notwithstanding, nearly 180,000 gallons of whisky have come legally into the United States from Scotland and other lands in the first eight months of 1921, according to figures made public today at the customs office of this port. The figures include all ports and all points of landing. The foreign valuation of the whisky imports for the period was $1,026,215, and more than three-fourths of this was for Scotch shipments.

The figures for whisky, as well as for other liquors and wines, are greatly in excess of those for the corresponding months of 1919, in January of which year the Eighteenth amendment became effective. The importations are legal under the Volstead act and are in no way limited, save by the requirements that importers possess permits that provide for the admission of wine and liquors for non-beverage purposes, this including medicinal, religious and sacramental uses. All of these imports are placed in government warehouses, subsequently being taken out on withdrawal permits.
